Merely no terms to spell out. We have read through and i also am confident that i will gonna read yet again again in the future. You will not sense monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogs are for about should you question me).

Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Speech of Mr. Truman Smith of Conn; On the French Spoliation Claims: Delivered in the Senate of the United States, January 16 17, 1851 The bill to provide for the ascertainment and satisfaction of claims of American citizens for Spoliations committed by the French prior to the 31st July, 1801, being under consideration; Mr. Smith addressed the Senate as follows: The question comprised in this bill is, whether this Government is not under an equitable obligation to make some indemnity to those of our citizens who suffered by the spoliation of the French anterior to the ratification of the Convention of 30th September, 1800. If I were to consult my own feelings, I should be prepared to refer this question to the judgment and vote of the Senate, without a single remark on my part. The subject has been so long before Congress, has been so often and so thoroughly examined in reports submitted from time to time in the Senate and House of Representatives, and has also been so frequently and so ably discussed on this floor and in the other wing of the Capitol, that it would be presumptuous for me to expect that I could add much of fact or argument to what has already been offered on the subject. But, as there are some honorable members of this body who have not hitherto participated in the deliberations of either branch of Congress on the question before us, and as the essential facts of the case may not be fresh in the recollection of other honorable members, a re-presentation of the more important features of the case may not be without its...
